

BODY ACTIVATION WORKSHOP

INTRODUCTION, Part 1 of 2

Can you heal your own body?

Yes! The human body is designed to heal itself — we just need to tap our consciousness into the ability. We can achieve this by quieting the mind through meditation, grounding, cleaning up your “space,” and then listening to your body. Once tuned in, you’ll discover all the information you need to heal yourself. This is called BODY WISDOM.

Start with the understanding that your body and the universe are ONE. By paying attention to specific areas and organs of our bodies we can explore that oneness and the ways in which we are all connected to each other. How cool is that!? This means that when we take the time to heal ourselves we are helping others to heal too. I love that!

The connection we’re referring to is an energetic process called MAGNETIC RESONANCE. Listening to and sending our body love allows it to balance and harmonize. Our personal vibrational level rises and the people around us start to heal too!

INTRODUCTION, Part 2 of 2

How do we start this healing?

Before we start I want to explain a bit about the clearing of our “space” and what that means. This was very helpful to me, personally, and it can be beneficial to all if we work on it a little bit every day. No judging, please! Here are a few questions to ask yourself:

How does your energy feel? What do others feel about it? Is it vibrating on a lower level or a higher level?

To have a higher vibrational energy we need to look at what we put into our bodies and what our space around us looks like. Things like:

How’s your water intake? Nutrition? We are what we eat.

What about the people and other things we surround ourselves with? How does this space around you feel? What about the people you hang out with? If you are feeling scattered and tired it may be your cluttered area of negative friends. Be mindful, and go from there.

Step by step, this self evaluation will help you change your habits and allow you to better feel the beautiful energy around you and from within. It will raise your vibration! Learning the Body Activation process today will help you let go of what no longer serves you so that your energy can grow. You will be awakened from within and feel the difference in your body. Your energy centers will be more open to light and love — that light and love will show on the outside!

I like to call this daily check-in my "SOUL TUNE UP!"

Working from the inside to the outside helped me so much. I've passed this on to my personal training and energy healing clients, too. I feel we need to feel good on the inside to feel good and shine on the outside. It starts with loving ourselves just the way we are — love first ♥

Another tip that helped was to ask our own ego to step aside. Our ego instinctively wants to keep us in our comfort zone. It thinks it is protecting us through self-inflation or self-deflation. Growth and change is inherently scary to this primal survival instinct. Before any new adventure or a healing we should try to send love to our ego, asking that it step aside.

Let's try this together!

Get in a comfortable position and grab a pen and paper; a journal would be great if you have one. You might want to keep these guidelines handy to reference later as we learn together.

Each of these fundamentals are detailed on the following pages. Let's review them all now and then we'll practice together at the end.

THE FUNDAMENTALS

- The 4 Levels of Healing
- The 11 Body Activation Centers
- The Functions of Body Activation Centers

The 4 Levels of Healing

1. Physical
2. Emotional
3. Mental/Psychological
4. Spiritual

All levels of our being must be balanced and in harmony with each other in order to experience true health, wellness, and inner peace. Only then does our outer world become a reflection of our inner world. Each Body Activation Center holds within it all four of the above aspects. When we are focusing on a center we will be addressing and healing each of these four levels, working to bring them into balance.

For each of the four levels, ask yourself:

- What physical sensations are we experiencing?
- How are these experiences impacting our well-being?

At the PHYSICAL level we are looking at all aspects of our physicality: tissues, muscles, organs, bones, blood, cells, etc. Modern medicine is often focused exclusively here, on pain, sickness, and disease.

At the EMOTIONAL level we are looking at what emotions are felt.

At the MENTAL level we are looking at our mind via thoughts, beliefs, patterns, and statements. Which are at play?

At the SPIRITUAL level we are looking into the soul and the energy it carries, including information about the agreements and contracts our soul has made prior to this lifetime. We explore if the soul has been fragmented or otherwise cast off because of trauma, and if it is moving you towards a particular direction or holding you back.

The 11 Body Activation Centers

The following are our 11 body activation centers, their function, and The 4 Levels of Healing that occur within each.

Each center holds the ability to balance and harmonize the whole energetic self. Using Body Wisdom we can heal each aspect.

When we focus on and awaken each center we can explore it, observing if anything comes up for healing. We'll try to sit in that awareness, acknowledging any shifts in the energy that is stored there.

This healing process requires time and trusting in yourself. Don't let your ego get in the way — instead, KNOW that you already hold the answers within you and that they will surface when you quiet your mind and body. Find the stillness and listen, feel, see, and trust.

1. UPPER CORTEX

Located at the top of the brain, this center is where we initiate the connection with our higher self to start the healing process. Always start here first.

- a. Physical — healing our sensations of touch, vision, hearing, speech, and controlling body movement
- b. Emotional — interpretation of emotions
- c. Mental — gaining clear reasoning, judgement, understanding, and other learning
- d. Spiritual — improving your connection to the divine

2. PINEAL GLAND

Located at the center of the brain, this center governs DNA for activation, awakening, and alignment with our divine blueprint including who we really are meant to be, our higher-self, and purpose in life.

- a. Physical — visual sense and improving our circadian rhythm which controls our sleeping patterns
- b. Emotional — understanding our moods
- c. Mental — interpretation of mental health
- d. Spiritual — clairvoyance abilities and awakening to our soul and divine essence

3. MEDULLA OBLONGATA

Located along the brain stem, this center governs our autonomic central nervous systems.

- a. Physical — repairs damaged tissues and nervous system issues
- b. Emotional — encourages feelings of peace and calm
- c. Mental — creates clarity of perception of reality
- d. Spiritual — clairaudience abilities and accessing our divine truth

4. THYROID

Located in the neck around the esophagus, this center supports total body harmony and balance, giving and receiving, masculine and feminine energy, and lifestyle.

- a. Physical — improving endocrine system functioning
- b. Emotional — balancing mood fluctuations
- c. Mental — ability to interpret truthful expressions
- d. Spiritual — better expression of our soul, self, and spirit

5. THYMUS

Located in the middle of the chest, this center represents our spiritual heart or higher heart.

- a. Physical — strong immune and lymphatic system functioning
- b. Emotional — encouraging our capacity for compassion and unconditional love
- c. Mental — clarity of non-dualistic perception
- d. Spiritual — feeling that all is well and our connection to all of life

6. HEART

Located at our physical heart, this center oversees our sense of fulfillment and wholeness.

- a. Physical — properly functioning circulatory system
- b. Emotional — feelings of love and fulfillment
- c. Mental — clarity of our wholeness
- d. Spiritual — guidance in transformation

7. LUNGS

Located at our physical lungs, this center supports forgiveness and freedom.

- a. Physical — respiratory system functioning
- b. Emotional — ability to forgive
- c. Mental — interpretation of fears
- d. Spiritual — sense of freedom

8. DIAPHRAGM

Located below our lungs and above our digestive system, this center supports soul wholeness.

- a. Physical — ease of breath inhalation and exhalation
- b. Emotional — feeling of joy
- c. Mental — helping breakdown unconsciousness of soul self
- d. Spiritual — returning fragments of the soul by balancing and clearing soul contracts or agreements

9. STOMACH

Located at our physical stomach, this center supports a balanced ego, spirit, and empowerment.

- a. Physical — healing digestive and bone systems

- b. Emotional — bettering self-esteem, confidence, and respect
- c. Mental — breaking patterns of demoralization and lack of self-worth
- d. Spiritual — interpretation of ego based actions and balancing our personal will with divine will

10. WOMB & PROSTATE

Located at the physical womb and prostate region, this center supports a proper relationship with our self, as well as with others and all of life.

- a. Physical — improving reproductive, urinary, and muscle system functioning
- b. Emotional — better self-value, beauty, sexuality, and libido
- c. Mental — breaking patterns of addiction, codependency, and abusive relationships
- d. Spiritual — feeling oneness with the beauty of earth

11. RECTUM

Located at the physical rectum and tailbone area, this center supports our right to exist in this reality.

- a. Physical — blood, skin, and hair quality
- b. Emotional — feelings of safety and security
- c. Mental — breaking patterns of lack regarding our basic needs
- d. Spiritual — being grounded and one with earth

Preparation for Body Activation

The following tips will help you prepare for utilization of Body Activations to heal yourself and others.

1. Cultivate your central channel and grounding

Your central channel is an energetic column of light that comes down from the divine and flows into the center of the earth.

Your body is contained within this channel, with your aura or light body outside. This channel allows you to feel into the Body Activation centers so that you can use your intuitive and psychic skills to interpret the energy needed to heal.

A grounding practice is needed before beginning to use these body activations. I like to close my eyes and focus on my breath. Try the below to ground yourself.

Do a few cleansing breaths. Quiet your mind and body. Focus on your heart. Envision the heart like a lotus flower opening up. Invite feelings of love, happiness, and joy into your heart. Feel the heart expand.

Now imagine tree roots from the base of your spine and bottom of your feet, extending downwards to the center of the earth. Securing you to mother earth. Visualize it, then feel it.

Finally, focus on the crown of your head. Visualize the crown opening up like a lotus flower. From the center of that lotus is a beam of light that shoots up to the heavens and connects you to father sky (source, God, the Universe, etc.). Imagine stepping back and sensing you are connected. Know your body is contained within that central channel.

Speak aloud, "I AM NOW GROUNDED."

2. Establish a flow of silver and golden light

To feel into the Body Activation centers we need to establish a flow of silver and golden light. Both of these two energies are gifts from mother earth and the divine that allow us to be a conduit for sacred service. They both hold healing powers.

Envision the grounding tree roots again. They extend from the base of your spine and bottom of your feet, traveling down to the center of earth where they anchor to a pool of silver light.

Allow yourself to feel that silver light filling up your body and central channel. Imagine it flowing all the way up to the divine at the highest power of the universe where it anchors to a pool of golden light.

Visualize the silver and golden energies intermingling as the golden light flows down into your body and central channel, anchoring to the silver pool of light below.

Sit back and feel both energies flowing up and down — from a pool of silver light below to a pool of golden light above — with you in between both the divine and our mother earth.

3. Connect to your higher self

Your higher self will be there to support and guide you to “turn on” the Body Activation “switch” that exists within each center before you begin to balance and bring harmony on all four levels of healing.

Envision an overflow of light and love in your energy field all around you. Then call in your team. This should be your higher self, angels, guides, loved ones, ancestors, and anyone else you'd like to stand by you. Feel them coming close and helping to guide you. ♥