Remind the student to print out the "Introduction" section worksheet questions available on this slide.

Can you heal your own body?

Yes! The human body is designed to heal itself — we just need to tap our consciousness into the ability. We can achieve this by quieting the mind through meditation, grounding, cleaning up your "space," and then listening to your body. Once tuned in, you'll discover all the information you need to heal yourself. This is called BODY WISDOM.

Start with the understanding that your body and the universe are ONE. By paying attention to specific areas and organs of our bodies we can explore that oneness and the ways in which we are all connected to each other. How cool is that!? This means that when we take the time to heal ourselves we are helping others to heal too. I love that!

The connection we're referring to is an energetic process called MAGNETIC RESONANCE. Listening to and sending our body love allows it to balance and harmonize. Our personal vibrational level rises and the people around us start to heal too!

Student Worksheet Questions

1. What is the purpose of practicing Body Activation? What are we trying to achieve?
We are learning how to use our body's own self-healing abilities.
2. What are the first four steps to consciously healing your own body?
(1) Quiet the mind, (2) Ground yourself, (3) Clean up your space, (4) Listen to the body
3. What is listening to your own body to discover information called?
Body Wisdom
4. What energetic process connects us to all things in the universe?
Magnetic Resonance

Introduction: Lesson 2 of 2

How Do we start this Healing?

Before we start I want to explain a bit about the clearing of our "space" and what that means. This was very helpful to me, personally, and it can be beneficial to all if we work on it a little bit every day. No judging, please! Here are a few questions to ask yourself:

How does your energy feel? What do others feel about it? Is it vibrating on a lower level or a higher level?

To have a higher vibrational energy we need to look at what we put into our bodies and what our space around us looks like. Things like:

How's your water intake? Nutrition? We are what we eat.

What about the people and other things we surround ourselves with? How does this space around you feel? What about the people you hang out with? If you are feeling scattered and tired it may be your cluttered area of negative friends. Be mindful, and go from there.

Step by step, this self evaluation will help you change your habits and allow you to better feel the beautiful energy around you and from within. It will raise your vibration! Learning the Body Activation process today will help you let go of what no longer serves you so that your energy can grow. You will be awakened from within and feel the difference in your body. Your energy centers will be more open to light and love — that light and love will show on the outside!

I like to call this daily check-in my "SOUL TUNE UP!"

Working from the inside to the outside helped me so much. I've passed this on to my personal training and energy healing clients, too. I feel we need to feel good on the inside to feel good and shine on the outside. It starts with loving ourselves just the way we are — love first ♥

Another tip that helped was to ask our own ego to step aside. Our ego instinctively wants to keep us in our comfort zone. It thinks it is protecting us through self-inflation or self-deflation. Growth and change is inherently scary to this primal survival instinct. Before any new adventure or a healing we should try to send love to our ego, asking that it step aside.

Student Worksheet Questions

5. Explain what it means to "clear your own space."

This is the process of taking a mental inventory of everything affecting you and those around you. It is an assessment of your own energy, feelings, surroundings, etc.

6. What are some examples of questions to ask yourself when conducting this self-evaluation?

How do I feel? What do other people feel about my energy? What am I consuming? What and who am I surrounding myself with?

7. What is the purpose of cleaning up your own space?
Creating better habits, learning to appreciate your surroundings and being alive, letting go of what no longer serves you, and opening up your centers to light and love so that we can grow.
8. Describe the dual purpose of the human ego.
The human ego is a primal survival instinct that was necessary for evolution. It protected us from dangerous situations by (1) self-inflation and (2) self-deflation.
9. Give an example of the more mainstream aspect of the human ego.
Self-inflation is often portrayed in movies as "They have a big ego" and generally manifests as an over-confidence in social situations.
10. Give an example of the less discussed, more inhibitory aspect of the human ego.
Self-deflation is an aspect less talked about outside of the self-help and spiritual world. It is often regarded as an inner voice that tells us not to try things that are outside of our comfort zone.

The Fundamentals: Lesson 1 of 2

Remind the student to print out the "Fundamentals" section worksheet questions available on this slide. Grab a Pen, Journal notes to begin

There are 4 Levels of Healing we will explore in each body center.

1. Physical
2. Emotional
3. Mental/Psychological
4. Spiritual

All levels of our being must be balanced and in harmony with each other in order to experience true health, wellness, and inner peace. Only then does our outer world become a reflection of our inner world. Each Body Activation Center holds within it all four of the above aspects. When we are focusing on a center we will be addressing and healing each of these four levels, working to bring them into balance.

For each of the four levels, ask yourself:

- What physical sensations are we experiencing?
- How are these experiences impacting our well-being?

At the PHYSICAL level we are looking at all aspects of our physicality: tissues, muscles, organs, bones, blood, cells, etc. Modern medicine is often focused exclusively here, on pain, sickness, and disease.

At the EMOTIONAL level we are looking at what emotions are felt.

ANGER Bitterness Jealousy SADNESS GRIEF JOY

*Anger →
① Tighter in chest
② Shaking*

At the MENTAL level we are looking at our mind via thoughts, beliefs, patterns, and statements. Which are at play?

*Thoughts Become → Beliefs → Patterns
Thoughts become our truth? or? ~~thoughts become our truth~~*

stop? Angels? Religion?

At the SPIRITUAL level we are looking into the soul and the energy it carries, including information about the agreements and contracts our soul has made prior to this lifetime. We explore if the soul has been fragmented or otherwise cast off because of trauma, and if it is moving you towards a particular direction or holding you back.

Example: ~~TRIGGERS~~ JUDGED

Student Worksheet Questions

1. What are the four levels of healing?

The four levels of healing are (1) Physical, (2) Emotional, (3) Mental, and (4) Spiritual.

2. What is our goal in using Body Activation at each level of healing?

An event happened + you haven't felt the same since. Like something is missing the free you haven't been able to be here

(DAD Phone Call)

FRAGMENTS - when we go thru trauma, fragments of our soul tries to find safety - protection. it hides that part/fragment example - DOG - DAD (GRIEF - attachment to his death)

Body Activations help to find balance and harmony at and between all levels of healing. As above, so below. This will lead us to experience true health, wellness, and inner peace.

3. What two questions should be asked at each level of healing?

Start by asking yourself, (1) "What physical sensations am I experiencing?" and (2) "How are these experiences impacting my wellbeing?"

11. Briefly describe each of the four levels of healing.

The (1) Physical level includes all aspects of physicality, from tissues and cells, to bones and organs; this is where modern medicine largely focuses. At the (2) Emotional level we are looking at what emotions are felt. At the (3) Mental level we are looking at our mind's thoughts, beliefs, and patterns. At the (4) Spiritual level we are looking at the energy our soul carries from this and previous lifetimes.

- Tightness - Physical
- Heart - closed

The 11 Body Activation Centers

Each center holds the ability to balance and harmonize the whole energetic self. Using Body Wisdom we can heal each aspect.

When we focus on and awaken each center we can explore it, observing if anything comes up for healing. We'll try to sit in that awareness, acknowledging any shifts in the energy that is stored there.

This healing process requires time and trusting in yourself. Don't let your ego get in the way — instead, KNOW that you already hold the answers within you and that they will surface when you quiet your mind and body. Find the stillness and listen, feel, see, and trust.

~~We will discuss each center in detail in the next course section.~~

Student Worksheet Questions

12. What are Body Activation Centers?

These are organs or areas of the body that hold different types of energy necessary to address when energetically healing the self.

13. Describe generally what is necessary to heal the body via each center?

With time and trust we can balance and harmonize the whole energetic self. Body Wisdom will inform this process.

Final Preparation: Lesson 1 of 3

Remind the student to print out the "Preparations" worksheet questions available on this slide.

Cultivate your central channel and grounding

Your central channel is an energetic column of light that comes down from the divine and flows into the center of the earth.

Your body is contained within this channel, with your aura or light body outside. This channel allows you to feel into the Body Activation centers so that you can use your intuitive and psychic skills to interpret the energy needed to heal.

A grounding practice is needed before beginning to use these body activations. I like to close my eyes and focus on my breath. Try the below to ground yourself.

Do a few cleansing breaths. Quiet your mind and body. Focus on your heart. Envision the heart like a lotus flower opening up. Invite feelings of love, happiness, and joy into your heart. Feel the heart expand.

Now imagine tree roots from the base of your spine and bottom of your feet, extending downwards to the center of the earth. Securing you to mother earth. Visualize it, then feel it.

Finally, focus on the crown of your head. Visualize the crown opening up like a lotus flower. From the center of that lotus is a beam of light that shoots up to the heavens and connects you to father sky (source, God, the Universe, etc.). Imagine stepping back and sensing you are connected. Know your body is contained within that central channel.

Speak aloud, "I AM NOW GROUNDED."

Student Worksheet Questions

1. Please describe the Central Channel.

An energetic column of light extending from the center of the earth and up to the heavens, containing your body and aura.

2. What is the Central Channel's purpose? What does it help us do?

The central channel is a gift from the heavens that allows us to interpret energy.

3. Describe "grounding."

A process that is meant to consciously stabilize yourself on earth while connecting to the heavens.

4. What are some ways to ground yourself?

Practicing breathwork. Visualizations. Meditation.

Final Preparation: Lesson 2 of 3

Establish a flow of silver and golden light

To feel into the Body Activation centers we need to establish a flow of silver and golden light. Both of these two energies are gifts from mother earth and the divine that allow us to be a conduit for sacred service. They both hold healing powers.

Envision the grounding tree roots again. They extend from the base of your spine and bottom of your feet, traveling down to the center of earth where they anchor to a pool of silver light.

Allow yourself to feel that silver light filling up your body and central channel. Imagine it flowing all the way up to the divine at the highest power of the universe where it anchors to a pool of golden light.

Visualize the silver and golden energies intermingling as the golden light flows down into your body and central channel, anchoring to the silver pool of light below.

Sit back and feel both energies flowing up and down — from a pool of silver light below to a pool of golden light above — with you in between both the divine and our mother earth.

Student Worksheet Questions

5. Describe the meditative visualization used to connect into our Body Wisdom.
Intermingling golden and silver light that fills our central channel.
6. From which direction does each of the two colors of light come from?
The silver light comes from the center of the earth and the golden light comes from the highest power of the universe.
7. What do these lights represent? What are they?
These lights are gifts from the divine and mother earth. They represent two energies that allow us to be a conduit for sacred service. They both hold healing powers.

Final Preparation: Lesson 3 of 3

Connect to your higher self

Your higher self will be there to support and guide you to “turn on” the Body Activation “switch” that exists within each center before you begin to balance and bring harmony on all four levels of healing.

Envision an overflow of light and love in your energy field all around you. Then call in your team. This should be your higher self, angels, guides, loved ones, ancestors, and anyone else you'd like to stand by you. Feel them coming close and helping to guide you. ♥

Student Worksheet Questions

8. Once connected, what remains in the process of Body Activation?
Focusing on each Body Activation Center and feeling into them so you can analyze how to find balance in each and harmony on all four levels of healing.
9. Along with your higher self, who will you call in to help guide you in this final process?
This answer should be different for everyone, but will likely contain angels, guides, ancestors, and friends.
